

LOVE IS A BATTLEFIELD - A 50 WORD STORY FROM THE TIPPING POINT

SHE is standing at the centre of the stage, facing the audience and calmly preening, as if looking into a mirror. HE enters from stage right.

HE

Don't take this personally. You need to look after yourself better.

SHE

I'm exhausted, cleaning up after you. I know you've been looking at other planets.

HE

Well, you've been so unpredictable lately.

SHE

I thought you were different. I thought you cared. You moved in and brought all your shit with you.

HE

You climate changed.